

Windows 10 wireless configuration for USF

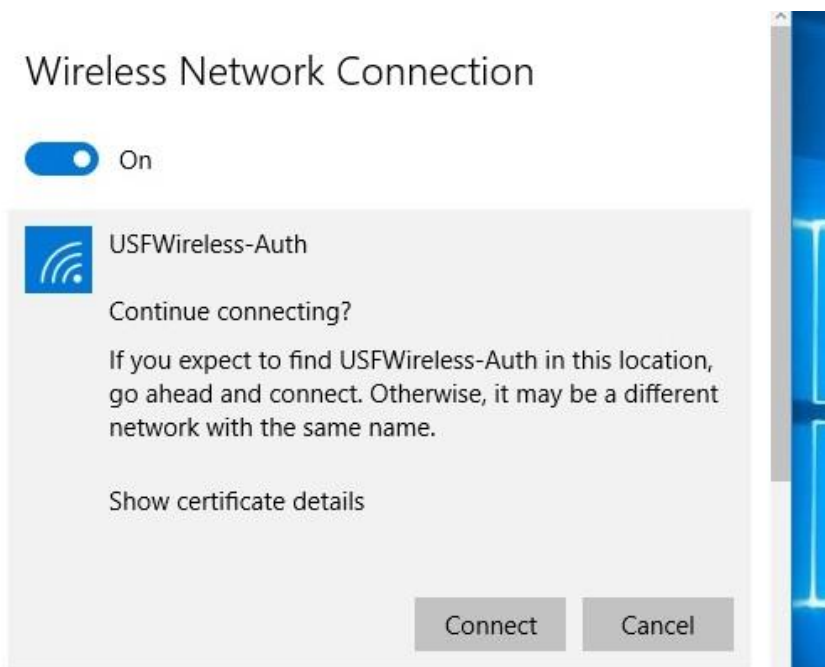

Click your wireless network icon in the lower right of your task bar. Select USFWireless-Auth and click connect, make sure connect automatically is checked.

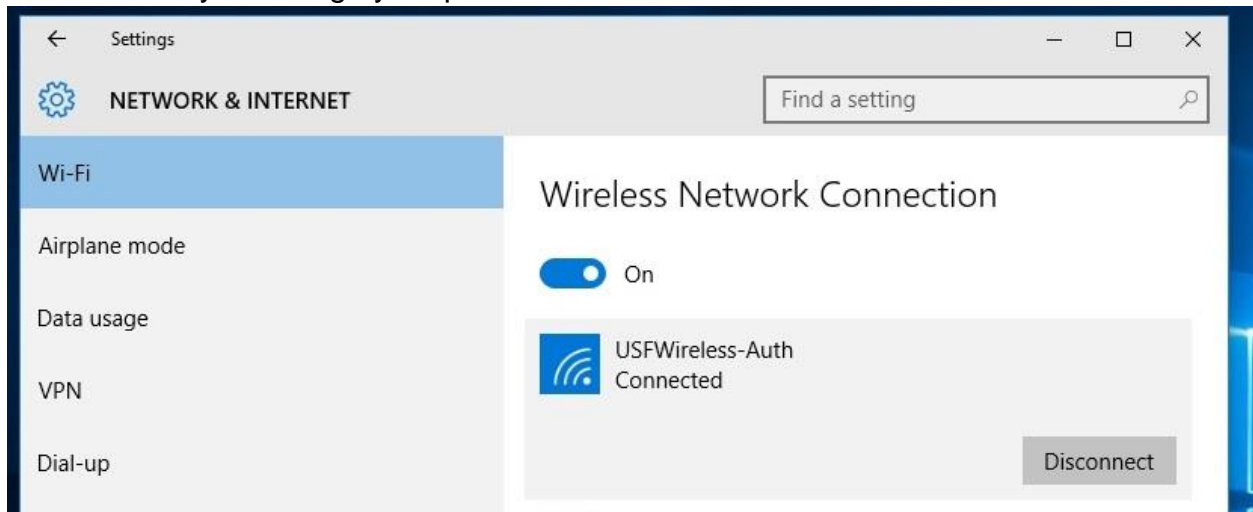

After clicking connect, your network settings window should open and you will be prompted for your USF username and password. Enter your information and click ok.

A certificate warning will appear, click connect.

You should now be connected and your device should connect automatically in the future unless you change your password.

If you were previously connected to USF-Guest, we suggest going into manage known networks from the settings window and forgetting that network.
